Course Overview

QUALIFICATION OVERVIEW

MSF30322 Certificate III in Cabinet Making and Timber Technology is a nationally recognised vocational qualification providing the practical skills and theoretical knowledge required to work in the manufacture and installation of furniture and cabinetry made from timber and other materials. The course covers using furniture making tools and equipment, producing production drawings and cutting lists, and fabricating and installing cabinetry.

What a cabinet maker does

Cabinet makers read and interpret work documents and plans, prepare cutting lists and production drawings, select appropriate timbers and materials, use furniture making hand and power tools, and fabricate and install cabinetry and furniture, while following safe and sustainable work practices.

Industry demand

The Australian furnishing and construction industries continue to rely on qualified tradespeople across residential and commercial sectors. Skilled trades such as cabinet making remain an important part of the national workforce, supporting housing, renovation and custom furniture and joinery work across the country.
